

The next generation of shockwave technology is now exclusively at Limitless Male Medical to treat erectile dysfunction. LimitlessPulse™ Focused Wave technology is designed to target more and deeper blood vessels than traditional ESWT for improved, longer-lasting results.

If you suffer from erectile dysfunction, premature ejaculation, or just want to achieve better erections for performance, LimitlessPulse™ Focused Wave Therapy is a clinically proven, cutting-edge procedure that's safe, even for men with pre-existing conditions.

This new treatment focuses on one of the root causes of ED, reduced blood flow to the penis. LimitlessPulse™ Focused Wave Therapy produces high-energy, acoustic pressure focused waves that are delivered in the electromagnetic spectrum throughout the entire focal zone.

This "focused shockwave" deeply penetrates penile tissue (up to 3x deeper than previous models) to help restore and rebuild blood vessels in the penis. This increased blood flow helps create stronger and longer-lasting erections which helps improve your sex life, relationships, and confidence.

If you suffer from any of the following conditions, you may be a candidate for LimitlessWave Focused Therapy if you:

- have not found success with various oral ED treatments.
- are limited to treatment options due to underlying health risks.
- have an inability to achieve or maintain firmness during intercourse.
- have signs of Peyronie's Disease.
